Indo Troops Begin Drive On Sumatra

Rebels Retreat To Jungle As Landings Started On Island

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian Central government troops have stormed ashore today at Bengkal on the east coast of Central Sumatra, revolutionary sources said.

The sources said rebel troops of Lt. Col. Achmad Hussein clashed with the invaders but retreated into surrounding jungle to begin guerrilla activities.

The landings were made about 100 miles west of Singapore at the mouth of the crocodile-infested Siak River leading to the American-owned Caltex oil field headquarters at Pakanbaru.

Oil Fields Evacuated

Informants said 4,000 more troops were crammed aboard transports awaiting to land at Dumai, one of the two Caltex oil fields evacuated today on the advice of the Jakarta government.

Caltex announced it is ceasing production in the oil fields of rebellious Central Sumatra and suspending operations.

A spokesman for the company in Singapore said the action was taken on the advice of the Indonesian Central government in Jakarta.

Caltex was the first major American casualty in the economic struggle touched off by rebel attempts to bring the Jakarta government of President Sukarno to terms.

Rebel Premier Sjafruddin Prawiranegara's regime on Sumatra recently issued an order to all foreign firms to halt oil shipments and royalty payments to the Jakarta government. Halting oil shipments would start an economic squeeze that rebel leaders hope will cripple the financially pressed Central government.

The three big foreign oil operators in Indonesia—Caltex, American Standard Vacuum, and Royal Dutch Shell—had not heeded the rebel order. Caltex was chiefly affected, because it has big installations in rebel territory. Standard's refinery is at Palembang, in South Sumatra, which is controlled by a military commander who so far has been neutral in the struggle between the rebels and Jakarta.

A Caltex executive said the company is evacuating the women and children among the nearly 400 Americans at two fields, Dumai and Pakning.

Women, Children Arrive

The first group of women and children arrived here aboard the company's ship, Caltex Medan. Others are expected aboard the Caltex Migdalla.

The troop landings were about 90 miles downstream from Pakanbaru, and about 200 miles across the jungle-covered island from Padang, rebel center.

Dumai, one Caltex oil field, is 100 miles north of Pakanbaru; Pakning is 93 miles south of Pakanbaru. The company's entire force of 3,000 workers of all nationalities was ordered to concentrate at Rumbai, near Pakanbaru.

The Betchel Construction Co. has 250 Americans building a pipeline and road from Dumai to the South. Those workers will remain on the job, the executive said.

Mrs. Patricia Belosa of Manhattan was taken to a hospital, where she was reported today in fair condition and suffering from a cut of the left ear and malnutrition.

Her grandson was charged with felonious assault. Police gave no explanation for the alleged beating, which occurred last night.

Expert Says Most Geniuses Diseased, Mentally Unstable

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Almost all the world's geniuses have been alcoholics, narcotic addicts, tuberculars or mentally unstable, says a former president of the British Royal Society of Medicine.

Dr. V. B. Green-Armstrong said in an interview while here to address the International Congress of Surgeons that his four-year study of genius showed:

"Practically all geniuses were under 5 feet 3 inches in height.

"Nearly all were either impotent or had little sex instinct.

"Almost none produced offspring of genius stature.

"There have been no women geniuses.

Cuban Police On Alert For Strike Threat

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Contingents of heavily armed national police stood special alert duty today with orders to act decisively if Fidel Castro's rebels use their "ultimate weapon"—a general strike call.

The 7,700 policemen and 22,000-man armed forces were ordered to take "whatever steps necessary" to break a strike and crush any outbreaks of violence, that might develop on this sixth anniversary of President Fulgencio Batista's last military coup.

Batista canceled all celebrations except for a radio speech from a nearby military garrison, where he is protected by thousands of troops.

Castro has threatened a general strike at any moment. The rebel mountain guerrillas are reported running short of arms, and Castro has declared that a general strike would be his last blow—and the one sure to topple Batista.

Leaders of 60,000 high school and university students, already on strike against the arrest of fellow students, announced they would support any walkout to oust Batista.

But the powerful Cuban Confederation of Labor said its 1,200,000 workers would stay on the job. Batista recently decreed wage boosts for them.

Castro, however, claimed secretly organized support among the workers.

Tunis Agrees To New Plan

TUNIS (AP)—President Habib Bourguiba is reported to have agreed to the first step of a compromise plan that would allow French forces to remain in control of the big naval base at Bizerte.

The Tunisian President demanded that all French forces get out of his country after the French bombing of Sakiet Sidi Youssef last month.

But under the plan reportedly worked out by U.S. conciliator Robert Murphy, the French would pull their forces back to Bizerte and leave neutrals guarding French airports to insure that they would not be used by Algerian rebels.

Snow Closes Schools And Blocks Roads

By The Associated Press

Late season snowstorms chilled sections of mid-Atlantic states today and storms which hammered parts of the Rockies moved into the Plains region.

Near-record falls of snow for the date were reported in parts of north central and western sections of Virginia yesterday. Snow also fell in parts of West Virginia, Maryland in the Washington, D.C., area and in Delaware. The drifting snow forced the closing of half a dozen school systems in Virginia.

The weekend storm in the Rockies which dumped up to 8 inches of snow at Lander, Wyo., moved into Montana, the Dakotas, and southward through Kansas.

Nine inches of snow fell in a six-hour period in St. Louis.

In Virginia, 15 inches of snow was reported from the Mt. Crawford area near Harrisonburg and 14 inches fell in Bath County.

Liz Taylor Says She Will Leave Work In Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, a top contender for this year's Oscar as best actress, said today that 1958 will probably be her last year as a movie queen.

"My husband (Mike Todd) doesn't want me to be an actress," she told a reporter. "And I don't want it either."

She currently is making "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at MGM, the studio where she made her first picture in 1942—"Lassie, Come Home."

Only 26, she has spent 16 of those years working in front of cameras.

Dulles Shuns Comment On Red Proposal

MANILA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles arrived today for the annual SEATO foreign ministers' meeting, which is expected to focus on a possible linkup with similar anti-Communist alliances in the West and Middle East.

In contrast to other ministers here for the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization parley, Dulles declined to comment on the latest Soviet proposals for the Far East situation.

Asked whether he planned to confer with his colleagues on the Soviet Union's latest call for a summit conference, Dulles said, "I came here to discuss the problem of SEATO. I expect that will occupy us fully."

Dulles told newsmen he had not seen official reports on the Soviet demand for an atomic-free zone in Asia and an Asian collective security system, broadcast by Moscow radio in an assault on SEATO. Other foreign ministers rejected both proposals speedily.

The U.S. secretary said the three-day parley, which opens tomorrow, must strengthen further the fabric of this regional defense organization.

High on the agenda is a scheme for linking SEATO with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Baghdad (Middle East) Pact. The Philippines made the proposal. Britain already is opposed to it.

The ministers also will discuss the question of more economic and military aid for SEATO's Asian members.

Member nations are the Philippines, the United States, Britain, France, Pakistan, Australia, New Zealand and Thailand.

China Force Quits Korea

HONG KONG (AP)—North Korean soldiers have been taking over from withdrawing Red Chinese "volunteers" in the past few days, Peiping radio said today.

The broadcast said the first Communist Chinese elements will complete their pullout before April 30. The size of the group was not indicated.

The Chinese Reds said two weeks ago they would pull back their entire force in North Korea—estimated at 570,000 men—by year's end. They demanded that U.N. troops do the same in South Korea.

Korea Reds To Free American Jet Pilot

Give No Date On Return Of Sabre Jockey

UN Aims Warning To Reds On Future Truce Line Crossing

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korea today agreed to return a U.S. Air Force pilot shot down over the demilitarized zone last Thursday by Communist gunfire. No date for the release was given.

The Communist announcement came at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission at which the U.N. Command warned it would shoot down any Red planes deliberately crossing the truce line.

Reported In Good Health

Capt. Leon Pfeiffer of Kenosha, Wis., who parachuted from the stricken Sabre jet into Communist territory, was being given "humanitarian treatment," the Communist delegates said. The Reds said Pfeiffer was in good health.

The U.N. delegate, Gen. Olaf Kyster, admitted that Pfeiffer's and other American planes had violated the demilitarized zone but told the Reds it was because of "mistakes and carelessness on the part of the pilots."

Kyster protested the shooting was an "unnecessary armed attack" and warned that Communist aircraft violating U.N. territory also would be fired upon "if these violations are not due to navigational error."

Kyster emphasized at a press conference later that this was not a new policy.

The North Korean delegate charged U.N. forces had violated the demilitarized zone 588 times since the 1953 armistice to spy on Communist territory.

The Korean, Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho, charged that the latest U.N. violations were "along with a series of provocative acts by your side . . . in converting South Korea into a United States atomic war base."

Say Warning Disregarded

The Communist delegate said Pfeiffer's Sabre jet was shot down because the pilot disregarded Communist warning fire by continuing to "perpetrate hostile acts at low altitude."

Kyster also demanded return of the South Korean airliner hijacked in flight Feb. 16, its cargo and punishment of those responsible in accordance with the armistice agreement. Kang in effect rejected the demand.

Wealthy Swede And Ingrid Shun Marriage Talk

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Swedish millionaire Lars Schmidt say they will spend the summer together on a small island off Sweden's west coast. But they won't talk about wedding plans.

Standing with Ingrid in the courtyard of his big estate, the 45-year-old play producer told newsmen he recently bought a house on the island in the Swedish Archipelago.

"I love that little island," interposed Ingrid, 40, whose romance with her now-estranged husband, Italian movie director Roberto Rossellini, developed on the volcanic island of Stromboli. Rossellini seeks an annulment in Italy of their Mexican marriage by proxy.

Pilot Blamed In Plunge Of Big Airliner

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board said today the captain of a Northeast Airlines plane which crashed on Rikers Island, N.Y., the night of Feb. 1, 1957, "did not demonstrate the skill and care required of an airline pilot."

The plane, with 101 persons aboard, crashed and burned shortly after taking off from LaGuardia Field, N.Y., on a flight to Miami.

Twenty of the 95 passengers received fatal injuries, 25 passengers were hurt slightly. The pilot, copilot and flight engineer were uninjured.

Both the pilot, Alva A. R. Marsh, and the copilot, Basil S. Dixwell, had been flying for Northeast for more than 14 years. The flight engineer was Angelo V. Andon.

The board said an extensive investigation showed beyond a reasonable doubt that the aircraft functioned normally throughout the short flight.

Rep. Harris Keeps Mum At Hearing

Whiteside Absence Not Explained At FCC Investigation

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (INS)—John S. Cross, assistant chief of the State Department's Telecommunications Division, was named today to succeed Richard A. Mack on the Federal Communications Commission.

Cross, 53, was nominated by President Eisenhower to serve the unexpired term of Mack, who resigned under fire last week while being investigated by a House committee.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami lawyer, failed to appear today for scheduled questioning by a House committee investigating the Federal Communications Commission.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark.) declined to tell reporters immediately what, if any, word he had received from Whiteside.

Harris ordered a closed meeting of the committee.

Whiteside had not been subpoenaed for more questioning on his relationship with former FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

Appeared Last Week

Neither Whiteside nor his attorney, Richard A. Hunt, was reported registered at the Washington hotel where the Miami businessman-lawyer had been staying.

Whiteside appeared twice last week before a U.S. grand jury investigating matters relating to the FCC. He is scheduled to report to the grand jury again.

Whiteside gave the grand jury records of financial dealings with Mack.

Like the House committee, the grand jury is studying the conduct of Mack, in connection with the FCC's grant of television Channel 10 in Miami to a subsidiary of National Airlines.

Whiteside at one time pushed the application of Public Service, which won the channel over three other applicants.

Mack, who voted with the FCC majority in favor of Public Service, acknowledged accepting thousands of dollars in loans and free stock in two firms from Whiteside, whom Mack described as a long-time friend. Mack denied he was swayed by Whiteside to vote for Public Service, and contended he had not done anything wrong.

'Tommies' Told Stop Whistling At 'Army Girls'

NEWCASTLE-UNDER-LYME, England (AP)—Men of the royal artillery unit here have been ordered to quit whistling at girl soldiers.

The local unit includes 51 men and 25 members of the Women's Royal Army Corps.

"Whistling at WRAC members," the order read, "will cease. Failure to comply will involve disciplinary action."

Capt. N. Cameron Smith, the company commander who posted the order, said he acted on instructions from higher authority.

Capt. Joyce Roberts, the trim, 35-year-old commander of the WRACs, said she had filed a complaint because "the whistling upset the girls and I had to do something about it."

Swedish Court Irks Briton In Statements On Romance

LONDON (AP)—A British aristocrat in effect told the Swedish court today to shut up about the romance between his son and Princess Margaretha.

The romantic difficulties of Robert Douglas-Home, nephew of the Earl of Home, and the Swedish princess have been headline fodder for months. The young man failed to win her hand on a visit to Sweden last week, but a Stockholm paper reported today that the court expected a fall wedding.

Said Robin's father, Maj. the Hon. Henry Montagu Douglas-Home, in a statement to the press: "It is my wish that no further communique, however trivial, will be issued by the royal plans in peace."

palace of Stockholm or its spokesman until these two children have made up their vacillating minds undisturbed by anyone.

"As far as I am concerned I wish to hear no further comment whatsoever on their romance."

Although the engagement had been widely expected, a royal court communique said they had decided to postpone it. The newspaper Aftonbladet reported the couple expected a fall wedding. The royal family urged the young couple to "think it over."

No reason was given, but Aftonbladet added that the two may meet abroad "so they can make up their minds on their marriage plans in peace."

Disc Jockeys Are Real Squares

Act Like Junior Executives At National Session

KANSAS CITY (AP)—It's strictly Junior C of C. man. They're cubes, man. Not a crazy cat in the whole barnyard. I mean cubes, man. No jazz.

It might have been a "hep" teen-ager talking if he had been able to get inside the first national convention of radio disc jockeys, held in Kansas City over the weekend.

About 800 record-spinners attended, and a few of their bosses.

A handful of teen-age rock 'n' rollers did try—in vain—to get inside the convention hotel to see the many recording artists who met with the disc jockeys. If they had managed to tune in on the discussions of the disc jockeys, they probably would have been flabbergasted.

The disc jockeys looked and acted like junior executives, eager to swap shop talk. It was strictly a tie-and-suit session. There were no loud shirts, ducktail haircuts or sideburns. The only beard was sported by Bob McGavin of CKWX, Vancouver. B.C. McGavin explained he sprouted it for a centennial celebration.

All seats were taken at most of the panel discussions. They generally were serious. Few promotional gimmicks. No jive talk.

The disc jockey was referred to in speeches as a salesman—of his products, his station, of music—of himself. He also was pictured as an entertainer.

No one suggested the disc jockey need be a "character."

Two North Utah Skiers Killed By Snow Slides

SNOW BASIN, Utah (U) — Snow slides killed two skiers yesterday at this northern Utah ski area. One had joined a rescue group dispatched to look for the first victim.

Bodies of both were located by nightfall, but both were left where they were found—on the east face of towering Mt. Ogden. Sheriff Leroy Hadley of Weber County said it would have been too dangerous to try to bring the bodies out before daybreak.

The first slide swept away Dr. Lincoln Ellison, 49, research director for the U.S. Forest Service's intermountain forest and range experiment station at nearby Ogden, Utah.

The second slide killed John Anthony Deane, 23, a former Denver University and Aspen, Colo., skier who recently moved to Salt Lake City.

Hadley said Ellison was leading a party of four experienced ski patrol. They quickly organized skiers on a ski tour across the mountain face in an area known as Easter Bowl. It's described as an expert-class run.

Another member of the party, Fred Montmorency, 53, Ogden, said he and the others reached a clearing in the woods only to find Ellison's tracks suddenly disappeared under a six-inch blanket of snow that marked the path of an avalanche. The others, Roy Peipenburg and Ralph Johnson, both of Ogden, started down the slope to probe for Ellison. Montmorency started walking back to Snow Basin Lodge to get help.

Montmorency said he started to slide himself on another slope a short distance away.

"I rolled perhaps 100 yards," he said, "but I was buried only about one foot under and I could break through and dig myself out. I got banged up a bit, but I'm okay."

While on the way down, he met some members of the Snow Basining a party of four experienced ski patrol. They quickly organized skiers on a ski tour across the mountain face in an area known as Easter Bowl. It's described as an expert-class run.

Jealous Mate Shoots Wife, Kills Himself

OTTAWA, Kan. (U) — A jealous Kansas highway patrolman shot himself to death last night after wounding his bride slightly, police said.

He was Trooper Roland Johnson, 27. His wife, the former Judy Blair, 18, was treated at a hospital for a flesh wound in the shoulder and released.

County Atty. Don White said the couple was married Feb. 2 in Excelsior Springs, Mo., but was keeping it secret because Johnson's divorce from his first wife was not yet final. The first wife and Johnson's two children live in Wichita, Kan.

While quoted Judy's mother, Mrs. L. W. Magers Jr., as saying Judy wanted her marriage annulled because Johnson was insanely jealous of her.

Johnson shot himself in the head with his service revolver in his patrol car after firing a shot at Judy, who was seated in his private car, White said.

The county attorney said this story was related by Connie Reed, 19, a friend of Judy's.

Johnson and Judy quarreled shortly before Judy, driving his private car, picked Connie up at a cafe and started driving along Main Street.

Johnson pulled in behind them in his patrol car.

"He followed us and Judy said she was afraid," Miss Reed said. "She turned off on a street near the hospital and stopped. He pulled alongside and told her to take the car home. I want it."

"Judy rolled up the window. He pulled out his revolver and shot at her. She fell over and I asked if she was hurt. She said she was, so I drove her home."

Two Officers Gunned Down From Ambush

COPPERHILL, Tenn. (U) — "We haven't caught them yet. But we will. We won't quit until we do," So said Polk County Sheriff Bud Payne of the ambush slayers of two of his deputies.

Payne said he had several leads to the Saturday night shotgun killings of Louis Wright, 49, and R. A. (Bob) Rogers, 65, but not enough evidence to make any arrests.

"So far we've had to confine a lot of our investigation to questioning persons who were in the beer tavern when the deputies were ambushed outside," Payne said.

Wright and Rogers, the father of 10 children, were killed as they stepped from their patrol car on a routine check of the tavern located on State Highway 68 about six miles north of here.

The probability that politics may have entered into the slaying was voiced by Copperhill Mayor Emil Greene.

"I think it was politics," Greene said, "and most of those with whom I have talked agree."

Trainer Faces Down Lioness After Animal Attacked Him

KANSAS CITY (U) — Lion tamer Pat Anthony yesterday faced down the snarling lioness which clawed and bit him Friday during his act in the police circus.

His lacerated left arm in a sling, Anthony worked with his beasts for the first time since the attack. A crowd of 12,000 watched tensely.

When the act neared the point at which the lioness was to take her place in a row with other lions, she snarled and lunged toward Anthony.

He dropped his whip and with his right hand rolled a white barrel toward the animal. She retreated and Anthony followed her, cracking his whip and shouting. He was given an ovation.

"She's scared to death of that barrel," the 27-year-old trainer said afterward. "I knew if she came at me that's what I'd have to do. She backed off fast and I don't think she'll give me any more trouble."

Neighbors To Give Blood For Tot In Heart Surgery

ONSTED, MICH. (U) — Blood offered by 24 neighbors may course through the body of Susan Kurtz for five hours tomorrow while the 11-year-old girl undergoes a heart operation.

The 24 offered their blood within a few hours after it became known that Susan must undergo the operation in a Cleveland hospital.

Starting today, the neighbors in this southern Michigan village are to go by car caravan to Cleveland to give their aid.

Lloyd Kurtz, the girl's father, said surgeons told him Susan would not live six months unless she was operated on and that the odds were 5-1 against its being successful.

The operation, to be performed by Dr. Frederick S. Cross, a Cleveland heart specialist, calls for use of a mechanical heart and lung to take over for Susan's own heart during the five hours that surgeons estimate the operation will take. Blood from donors will pass through the mechanical heart.

At the age of 3 Susan had an artery transplanted from her right arm to her heart to replace a defective part of the heart. The artery failed to grow as the rest of her body grew and the new operation became necessary.

Bank Manager, Wife Seized By Foiled Burglar

JONESVILLE, S.C. (U) — An armed burglar, who police said had worked for several hours with one or more confederates to break into the Commercial National Bank here, was surprised yesterday by the bank manager and his wife.

Officers said the burglar, who was wearing an Army type gas mask to shield his face from the sparks of an acetylene torch, pulled a gun and bound his visitors, then escaped in their car with an undetermined amount of silver.

Bank manager Paul Free and his wife wriggled loose from their bonds and notified police.

Argentina Seeks To Settle Strike

BUENOS AIRES (U) — Argentina's provisional government last night ordered the mobilization of all male bank workers in an effort to end a six-week strike that has crippled the nation's economy.

Strike leaders told the workers to ignore the government's back-to-work move.

A government decree said the mobilization becomes effective today.

Ike's Portrait In Houston Club Slasher Target

HOUSTON (U) — A portrait of President Eisenhower, hung in the exclusive Houston Club, was found slashed last night. A note tacked to the frame said "We don't like Ike in Texas."

The oil painting by Boris B. Gordon was about a year old. It had been in the club 10 days and was valued at $1,000.

The slash in the 58x36-inch canvas extended about 12 inches across the upper part of the face.

Club manager Henry O. Barbour said the painting was to be sent to the Texas capitol in Austin. Police said they had no suspects.

Texan Urges Job Speedup

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) testified today for an accelerated federal public works program and declared, "what we want is action—not credit, not an issue."

"We want to get rid of the issue by putting people on jobs," the Senate Democratic leader said.

Johnson was the first witness at a public works committee hearing on a resolution he and 65 other senators are sponsoring to put the Senate on record as favoring a speedup of civil public works projects.

The Texan said the resolution covered about four billion dollars already appropriated for such projects as dams, river and harbor improvements, and public buildings.

Educators Slap Ike On Lack Of Schools

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Educators attending a convention here have taken President Eisenhower to task for not including school construction in his spending program.

Gruenther Urges U. S. Meet Soviet Challenge

KANSAS CITY (U) — The United States will have to meet the Soviet challenge in economics, politics and psychology, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former NATO commander, said last night.

The UAW called the strike against the Wisconsin bathroom fixtures company in April 1954. The plant at Kohler, Wis., was closed for a time, but later was reopened with non-strikers and new employees.

So far the hearings have centered largely on acts of violence and vandalism in the strike. Each side has blamed the other.

During the weekend Walter Reuther, UAW president, released a letter to Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) urging "sanity" in the investigation of the strike so that the hearings do not "continue to deteriorate into a political brawl and name-calling contest."

West Virginia Hit By Snow, Cold Weather

Due To Abate Today; Two Counties Close Schools As Result

By The Associated Press
The storm that swept upward through West Virginia yesterday bringing a temporary return of the bad weather conditions of last month was expected to abate in above-freezing temperatures today.
The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted highs of between 35 and 40 degrees following nighttime readings that averaged 10 degrees lower.
Despite the improvement, roads in at least two counties were reported in such a condition that schools were closed. The announcement of the closings was made last night by school superintendents in Pocahontas and Greenbrier counties.

Temporary Road Hazard

The snow that started in the southern part of the state Sunday morning and worked northward during the day and into the night brought a temporary return of the driving conditions that prevailed in the state during the first three weeks of February.
The State Police said the fall of snow in the southern and southwestern parts of the state ranged from three to five inches, with as much as seven to eight inches in the higher elevations.
They advised chains for driving as far north as Elkins and warned that some mountain roads had become impassable.
Driving conditions on the West Virginia Turnpike were described as very hazardous, particularly from Beckley to Princeton.

Transportation Hit

Public transportation was hampered by the return of winter conditions.
Flights scheduled to land at Kanawha Airport after mid-afternoon passed over to seek safer fields. But takeoffs continued.
Buses were delayed, though no cancellations of runs were reported.
The storm hit the state after the more than two weeks of spring-like weather that followed the worst winter seizure in at least a decade.
The weather bureau said Arborevale, Pocahontas County, reported 12 inches of snow. Flat Top 9 inches. White Sulphur Springs 7 inches. Union 5 and Beckley 3.

STUCK IN SUDDEN SNOW—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Feder were among St. Louis residents who were surprised when they woke up this morning to find a nine-inch snow had covered

State Corn Payments Set

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland farmers filed applications covering 23,240 acres of corn under the 1958 acreage reserve program, the State Agricultural and Conservation Committee announced today.

Julius P. Parran, committee chairman, said maximum payments for the acreage covered would total $1,130,830. The deadline for filing was Feb. 20.
Parran said additional acreage offerings by farmers on county waiting lists would bring the state totals to about 50,000 acres and $2,209,633 for corn.

Parran noted that tobacco also falls under the 1958 acreage reserve program, and funds allocated to Maryland for this crop total $1,095,500.

Obedience Said To Be Top Virtue

BALTIMORE (AP)—Almost 2,000 students representing high schools in Annapolis, Baltimore, Frederick and Hagerstown were told yesterday that the top virtue is obedience.
John W. McDevitt, superintendent of schools in Waltham, Mass., said "authority, the moral power to command," is necessary to "liberty under law."

The second annual citizenship program was sponsored by the Archdiocesan Department of Catholic Education and the Maryland State Council, Knights of Columbus.
The Most Rev. Jerome D. Sebastian, auxiliary bishop of Baltimore, presented awards. Gov. McKeldin and Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro attended.

Pastor Uses "Rocket" To Stress Sermon

BALTIMORE (AP)—After a countdown of the Ten Commandments, a "rocket" blasted off on a string of rubber bands to the ceiling of Baltimore's St. Mary's Episcopal Church yesterday.

All eyes were solemn.
As the "Churchnik" began to smoke at takeoff because of dry ice dropped into water, the Rev. George F. Packard told his flock: "Confirmation launches us into the flight of life and the fuel is holy communion."
The eight-foot, silver-colored cardboard rocket had three orange fins. It bore an orange cross and the word "sou!"

Last year, Mr. Packard used the theme of traffic signs to dramatize a Lenten service. Another time, he used knights and armor.

Business Briefs...

NEW YORK (INS)—American Smelting and Refining Co. reported today its earnings dropped in 1957 to $24,966,000 from $39,826,000 the previous year. The annual report to shareholders indicated a temporary continuation of low earnings until business conditions change and metal prices increase.

CLEVELAND (INS)—Steel Magazine said today odds that there will be a strike in the auto industry this summer have dropped to 6 to 5. Three weeks ago, according to the national metal-working weekly, odds were 3 to 1 that the UAW would walk out.
The publication attributes the change to a weakened position by auto workers as a result of lower than anticipated auto output and increased industry unemployment.

NEW YORK (INS)—Reduced sales and earnings were reported today by Phelps Dodge Corp. for 1957. Sales dropped to $287,098,000 from $418,736,000 in 1956. Net income amounted to $45,493,000, or $4.84 per common share, as against $88,430,000, or $9.72, the previous year.

Hagerstown To Vote On Bond Issues

Funds For Power Plant Expansion, Airport Sought

By GEORGE RASH
Hagerstown Mail Staff Writer

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—City voters will go to the polls tomorrow to vote on three bond issues totaling $5,500,000 in the third bond issue election in 10 years.
The voters are being asked by the mayor and council to approve two bond issues for the Municipal Electric Light Plant—one for $900,000 to complete an expansion program started in 1955, and one for $4,400,000 to start another expansion program immediately. The third issue is on the question of issuing bonds for $200,000 toward expanding the municipal airport.
The voters approved a bond issue of $1,500,000 for an expansion of the municipally owned power plant in 1948. A bond issue of $3,800,000 for expansion of the plant was approved in 1955.
Mayor Winslow F. Burhans said the $3,800,000 proved insufficient for the expansion program started in 1955, and the $4,400,000 being sought is for an expansion that is actually a second phase of the first expansion.

The mayor and council were unanimous in the formal vote for a referendum. There is no organized opposition to the approval of the bond issues.
The city-owned power plant has been in business for 50 years and is franchised to sell electricity only within the city limits. The Potomac Edison Co. is also franchised to sell electricity here, thus creating a rare competitive situation from the standpoint of electric utilities.

The MELP reported that in the past five years it has returned a total of $1,612,333 in cash to the city after deducting all expenses including debt service, and in the past 19 years a total of $5,179,938 in cash was returned after all deductions.

Burhans said this represents money that the city used for other municipal activities that otherwise would have to come from other sources such as property taxes.
He said engineers, who recommended the installation of another 12,500 kilowatt generator to bring the total capacity to 44,000 kilowatts, predicted that through the year 1968 the MELP would return a cash profit of $4,362,881 based on increased sales and increased customers.
The peak load of the plant is now 14,200 kilowatts and the firm capacity is 18,000 kilowatts. The new generator to be provided by the bond issue would boost the firm capacity to 32,000 kilowatts. The Public Service Commission requires that a plant have a firm capacity equal to the peak demand for power.

Nightclub Entertainer Remains Unconscious

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 25-year-old nightclub entertainer was still unconscious today, nearly 48 hours after she was found lying on the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.
Police remained puzzled about what happened to Mrs. Catherine Elizabeth Grover, found unconscious early Saturday. She was in critical condition at University Hospital with a bruise at the base of her skull.

After first police theorized Mrs. Grover might have been thrown from a car, she was found lying near the curb in the southbound lane just inside the city limits.

Later police all but ruled out this explanation because no bruises or abrasions were found on her body, aside from a minor elbow injury.
The mystery may continue as long as Mrs. Grover remains unconscious. But police also want to talk to a red-haired woman seen with Mrs. Grover Friday afternoon.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

"Acting" President

PRESIDENT Eisenhower is to be commended for his effort to settle—in the absence of a constitutional amendment or new legislation—how the nation shall be governed when a president becomes too ill to perform his duties yet does not die. His arrangement providing for an assumption of power by Vice President Nixon, in the event of presidential disability, advances concretely for the first time the idea of the "acting president." Never in history has a vice president taken the reins unless his superior has died in office. And then, of course, he has become president in full fact. Ironically the first time that happened, when Vice President John Tyler took over from President William Henry Harrison in 1841, there was much official argument that he should simply be regarded as "acting president." But Tyler insisted he had full presidential stature, and his view prevailed.

THE MATTER IS a good deal trickier, however, as it affects a president who is still alive but unable to do his job. The Constitution says plainly that in the case of inability to perform, the president's powers and duties shall fall to the vice president. But it doesn't say who shall decide when this condition exists, or what shall happen if the ailing president gets well again. Mr. Eisenhower now says he will decide the question of his own disability so long as he is physically able, and also will determine when to resume his duties. If he should be unable to make the decision, Nixon is empowered to make it after "appropriate" consultation with other authorities—which could mean doctors, members of the Cabinet, and others. But, obviously, Nixon holds the key.

SHOULD THIS situation ever arise, therefore, with the President finally taking back his authority, Nixon would in fact become the first acting president. House Speaker Rayburn and some others doubt the legality of the arrangement, saying a vice president must take the oath as president and could not thereafter be dislodged from the higher post. But many constitutional experts think the oath unnecessary and approve Mr. Eisenhower's plan. Certainly it is far better than no definition of the disability procedure at all. Until Congress, either through a new law or a constitutional amendment, shall offer a plan of its own, this one will be welcomed by most Americans as a form of insurance against the terrible confusion that otherwise might follow from serious presidential disability.

No Conclusions

A FRIEND OF OURS who deals with young students tells us that too many of them today seem like sad intellectual sacks to him. He describes them as poor boys and girls who do not think, but merely believe that they think. They incline, says our friend, toward a mere fetishistic fair-mindedness. Assign them a paper on a major issue of the current world, he says, and they will assemble the major arguments pro and con, state these in language which sounds like well worn clichés of newspaper columnists, and then avoid drawing any conclusion. The pros and cons are set forth, but what does the student think about the question after having studied it? He'll let somebody else think. He merely leaves the two sides of the question on two sides. The whole point of thinking is to try and resolve a problem by arriving at the most warranted and reasonable conclusion. All opinions are not equally valid or sound. Some are imbecilic; others are sensible. All evidence is not equally valid. Many alleged facts are untrue. Too many of the students of today do not concern themselves about this. Yet to draw conclusions on the basis of the available facts is the very essence of the rational process. Not all students are guilty of failing to go beyond a mere statement of pros and cons, but this particular shoe does fit an alarming number of them.

CONGRESS now seems to think that what this country needs is a good five cent postage stamp.

Administration Target Of Both Parties

WASHINGTON—Republicans and Democrats are not running against each other at this point in the Congressional campaign—both are running against the Administration.

The first casualty is the Eisenhower budget. Its precarious balance was cynically regarded from the start. Since then every money bill—appropriation or authorization—to reach the floor has been increased, and the end is nowhere near in sight.

The President has joined in this process with respect to defense spending, for which various supplemental bills have been offered by the new Secretary of Defense.

SOME observers now believe that even without crash programs the budget deficit may approach 10 billions unless some unlooked-for burst of economic activity softens the Congressional mood. Even so, all hands—on the Hill and at the White House—have talked tax cuts so much they will soon not be in a position to back out of one.

Democrats set the pace for the present race. But worried Republicans follow to a degree and sometimes lead, as with the demand of GOP Senate leader William F. Knowland for more water starts.

Time was when an Administration hard core—Budget Director

Dodge and his immediate successor, Rowland Hughes; former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President—put up a hard fight. But two much milder men—Percival Brundage and Robert Anderson—now hold the Budget and Treasury posts.

INFORMED sources say that Adams is shaken by the argument that Republicans dare not risk again being branded as the party of depression. Certainly Adams is playing much closer to the party reports than in former years.

Reports emerging from the President's weekly conferences with Republican legislative leaders suggest that they consist chiefly of Senators Knowland and Styles Bridges and Representative Charles A. Halleck explaining the Democratic challenge to the President and describing what ought to be done to meet it. So far the White House has held back on any massive outlays, talking only of what it might do "if."

THE NATURE of the conferences shows clearly, however, that the Republican leaders are ready to abandon their fair-warning cooperation for self-serving actions if they feel the times demand it.

This, of course, always tends to be the Congressional attitude in mid-term elections when any President's coattails are little good to the candidates. It is aggravated now by the recession, the lame-duck Presidential amendment and the President's illness.

It is not a case of the Republican Old Guard leaders making life more difficult for the White House. Eisenhower Republicans from industrial areas—those of Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey are two—are in the forefront of those crying too little and too late.

A CLEAR indication that the President has caught the mood of Republicans appeared at his press conference when he said that he would not support any Republicans who did not go along on the broad issues of foreign aid, national defense and the security of our allies. A broad range of domestic matters, including farm policy, is omitted from this limitation.

It is not expected here that Republicans, no matter how deeply alarmed, would want to do as much or act in the same fields as the Democrats. But the differences at this time are in degree, not principle.

Foreign Economic Policy Boosted

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—More attention will be paid in the future to United States foreign policy.

Aside from perennial arguments over tariffs and extension of reciprocal trade agreements, foreign economic policy isn't discussed much now. It's the political crisis over the Middle East, Tunisia, Indonesia, China, Latin America or other trouble spot that catches the headlines.

But back of every political situation there is apt to be an economic issue. One theory is that all wars actually have their origins in international trade rivalries.

The United States is not indulging in economic warfare with Communist bloc countries, but it's close to that.

SO FAR, THE Russians haven't started any preclusive buying or dumping of their products to ruin world markets.

But Russia is making international loans at interest rates lower than the United States can afford.

Russia can furnish India with a steel mill simply by depriving the Russian economy of something it also needs.

Russia can take Egyptian cotton in payment for arms exports simply by cutting down on Russia's own cotton crops.

This is tough competition to meet, for the United States can't kick its own private industry around that way.

Russia wants a new trade agreement with the United States, to buy what it wants in American markets. The United States is interested in holding down Russia's war production potential. So it takes the free world lead in restricting strategic exports to Russia and Red China in particular.

To that degree, the Communist and free world countries are indulging in economic warfare. It's a part of the cold war.

BUT ANOTHER angle to it has developed recently.

There is a foreign economic issue in every American business recession, like today's. A slump here cuts down on American imports of foreign-produced raw materials and finished merchandise.

That means hard times in the exporting countries.

So one of the biggest "foreign" economic problems of the United States today is how to keep its own domestic economy prosperous to prevent depressions abroad.

It is to handle policy questions of this sort that the Eisenhower administration has been trying to put its foreign economic policy organization in better order.

C. Douglas Dillon—former Dillon-Reed partner and ex-American Ambassador to Paris—has been on the job as deputy under-secretary of state for economic policy just a year. He hasn't stuck his neck out much. But that is not to say he hasn't been busy.

Dillon's principal assignment is to relieve Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of economic policy headaches. This leaves Dulles free to concentrate on political issues.

DILLON HAS little administrative responsibility. He has an Assistant Secretary of State, Thomas C. Mann, who takes that.

The International Cooperation Administration, now being merged into the State Department, will also be under Dillon's policy guidance. This will leave ICA Director James H. Smith, Jr., free to carry out foreign aid and mutual security operations without having to spend all his time on policy questions.

There's another wheel grinding. It revolves about the operations of Presidential Assistant Clarence B. Randall, former head of Inland Steel.

He heads a Council on Foreign Economic Policy. It is made up of representatives from all government agencies having anything to do with the subject.

Whenever there's a conflict, Randall acts as a referee, after consulting the President. In this way compromises are supposed to be worked out when the foreign policy of the country runs into conflict with domestic policy.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Across several thousand years, which is a reasonable test period for any idea, David has been tumbling Goliath over with regularity and dispatch. If we had the rocks of the skeletons to trace it back, you probably would find that some hairy and resolute little David, living in a tree, did a fine job with a Goliath called a dinosaur.

Biblically, we have evidence and, back about 25 or 30 years ago, two small Davids in Brooklyn knocked over the NRA in the best of all possible arenas: the courts of the United States. They were the Schechter brothers, poultryers, who didn't believe that a Federal government had a constitutional right to shove a little merchant around with a lot of sparkling new handcuffs.

And now, as almost any publication in the United States, the United Kingdom and, probably, the Istanbul Times, can tell you, another David has collapsed another Goliath. I thought I ought to sit down and talk with him. His name is Stephen Masters and he makes a lot of sense.

"I WANT TO say right off," he said, "that we are not the cause of what has happened. We are, perhaps, the provocation."

I would debate this with him until the sun sank West of Honolulu, but if he wants it that way, I'll settle. In any case, Masters is the present head of several combined operations which sell hard merchandise to the consumer at a profit percentage considerably less than do, or did, the accredited dealers for such merchandise. In the course of hewing down to the foundations of this story I came across that, to me, always fascinating thing: the American success story.

WHAT happened was that last October, in the courts, Masters licked a gigantic manufacturer of electrical appliances. The manufacturer held, even though it was costing him $51,000,000 a year (self-admitted) to implement the idea, that Fair Trade prices, which means fixed retail prices, should obtain on his goods.

Masters held that if he paid $279 to the manufacturer for a refrigerator, that was a consummated deal and that if he, thereafter, chose to sell the item for $279.02, that was his right and it was his properly paid for item.

The courts upheld him and after some hemming and hawing the manufacturer, as of about 10 days ago, gave in. Goliath went down in the dust before still another David. Since then several such manufacturers have capitulated.

MASTERS is slim, young and

WASHINGTON — A tragedy of our times is the way old friends and fellow church members tell out four long years ago in a Sheboygan, Wis., labor dispute and have hated each other to the point of ridiculousness ever since.

They were good, solid-looking citizens, too, as they paraded in their freshly pressed pants into the caucus room to tell the Senators what they'd done to each other since the Kohler plumbing works went on strike in 1934.

SOME 2,000 MEN and women walked out. The company replaced them with their friends, neighbors, and even relatives, and hate stalked the streets of Sheboygan ever since.

"To me it is still a pleasure. Even in practicing you make discoveries, and it is the discoveries that inspire you."

This is the golden jubilee season in America for the small, sturdy wizard of the strings who has a puckish face resembling one of Santa Claus' elves. But he had been a child wonder in Europe for more than five years when he made his debut here as an artist of seventeen.

ACCLAIMED AS one of the great masters of the violin in this century, Elman has given more than 3,500 concerts. He has a repertoire of more than 600 numbers and enlarges it each year.

"If you cease doing new things," he remarked, "you cease to grow."

Chance has played more than a casual role in his long career. When he was 12 he failed to turn the gas jet all the way off the night before his Berlin debut—he had never seen gaslight before—and was overcome by the fumes.

When he was 13, in London, a hot glass of tea he was holding burst and badly gashed a finger of his right hand.

"Had it happened to a finger on my other hand," he remarked "my career would have ended."

Asked the most important factors in a concert artist's career, Elman grinned and said:

"Well, entrances and exits are important—just as important as they are to an actor."

"Technical skill is important, of course, but the most important thing is heart. The artist's contact with his audience is through his heart. If he has no heart, he has no contact."

"And work is important. People think a person of genius or great talent doesn't have to work. Actually, he has to work harder because he has higher standards and higher ideals to satisfy."

AMONG ELMAN'S pleasant memories is playing in a string quartet with scientist Albert Einstein who, as a musician, was a very fine mathematician.

"But I found his violin playing easier to understand than his theory on relativity," said Elman.

Besides chess, the virtuoso has a rather unusual hobby—listening to his wife.

"I love to relax by discussing topics of the day with her," he said. "She is not a musician, but she is a very intelligent woman. When she says something, it is very much worth listening to."

At 67 Elman still has two great loves—the sound of his Stradivarius, and the voice of his wife who, he says, "has made my life happy from the day we married. We have never had a quarrel."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev, of all people, is urging Russians not to take the fifth. A drink or two, perhaps, but not the whole fifth. The convivial Mr. K. issued a command for national abstinence following the declaration by the government organ Izvestia that vodka is becoming Russia's "Public Enemy No. 1." Do you suppose Khrushchev could be jealous at having to take second billing?

I do not think this implies a desire on his part to retire into anonymity. It must be something more devious than that. Possibly he is finding that when he tells his famous talking dog stories too many of his vodka-bemused comrades are taking him literally.

The Kremlin (which is Nikita's other name) advances a number of reasons for imposing a harsher temperance. One is a statistic that 50 per cent of all accidents, and 70 per cent of all crime in the U.S.S.R. is connected with inebriation. Another is that over-vodkaed Russian diplomats place themselves at a disadvantage.

THE PICTURE OF Russian envoys switching from vodka to oil is rather unnerving to contemplate. It could also be cause on our part for deep concern. If they begin scheming in a state of sober sweetness they are certain to be far more dangerous than when they undiplomatically burped the truth about their intentions.

The sale of vodka in Russia used to be a Czarist monopoly, and has continued as a Soviet government one. Sales total more than 7.2 billion rubles ($1.8 billion) a year. It must have taken strong motivation for the Kremlin voluntarily to cut into this revenue.

One reason for the temperance order being promulgated at this time may be that Russia is trying to get its negotiators sobered up for the proposed summit meeting. At Yalta, Potsdam, Tehran, and Geneva, the Soviets were represented by heavy bottomed-up men who had an un-Machiavellian habit of sometimes hiccupping what they meant instead of what they wanted others to believe.

There has been much talk of late about the "new face" of Russia. It could be that the Kremlin strategists want to augment this with the "new breath." They may wind up by smelling so sweet that our negotiators will be less inclined to sniff suspiciously.

I HAD NOT envisioned the time when I would advocate that we borrow an ethical leaf from the Russians, but I can't help feeling that we might—with proper reservations—follow their example and cut down on some of our diplomatic boozing.

If nothing else, it would save our government some money to put into competitive rocketry. Our State Department is petitioning Congress right now for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for "representational allowances," which is its euphemistic cover-up for liquor money for our foreign missions.

Last year the State Department requested $1,200,000 for this joke on our blue noses, and got $600,000. Many Congressmen, who sometimes have to buy their own liquor, are reported to be readying the hatchet again this year.

I am convinced the Kremlin is in earnest about its abstinence order. But I can't bring myself to believe that Khrushchev means it to apply to himself. He can't be afraid that he will get loaded and say something.

What has he left unsaid?

Summit Talk Proposals Termed 'Egg-Throwing'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It looks like an egg-throwing contest with old eggs. Both sides are splattered in the high-level American-Soviet discussions on how to hold a summit meeting.

Premier Bulganin has written President Eisenhower four letters since December. Eisenhower has replied with three. Both agree peace is wonderful. Each uses a lot of paper blaming the other side for the mess the world's in. Others heaved eggs of their own from the sidelines: Secretary of State Dulles, Communist party boss Khrushchev, the State Department, the Soviet Foreign Office.

So, while both sides talk of the summit, both are using the exchanges for propaganda. This may be the diplomats' idea of how to arrange a meeting. To a layman it may seem the best way to have none at all.

Bulganin, sandwiching in topics he'd like a summit meeting to discuss, has charged the United States with war preparations; taken a crack at Dulles by brushing off the idea that foreign ministers should meet to arrange a summit conference; accused people in this country of calling for a preventive war; blamed this government for not squelching them.

That's just a briefest down version of all he said. He got under Eisenhower's skin. The President, knowing the whole world was reading his correspondence with Bulganin, went to great lengths to defend this country and blast the Soviet Union.

He blamed the "cold war" on communism; accused the Soviets of running out on promises to help unify Germany and let the satellites hold free elections; condemned the Soviet Union for undermining nations with its 82 vetoes in the United Nations.

He needed Bulganin for being too wordy in his letters; blamed the Soviet Union for the arms race and wanting to overthrow other governments; and he told Bulganin one of his letters was just a mild rebuke of a "bitter speech" by Khrushchev before a bunch of farmers in Minsk last Jan. 22.

While Bulganin was writing about peace and togetherness, Khrushchev at Minsk belittled this country's efforts to launch a satellite, ridiculed Eisenhower and Dulles, and blustered the "Western imperialists" who wanted to preserve a war atmosphere in order to make money.

In short order, the State Department issued a statement tearing into Khrushchev for spreading a "distorted view of United States policies and motivations." Meanwhile, the Soviet Foreign Office in a note to this country—called by diplomats an aide memoire—suggested that maybe, after all, the foreign ministers could meet to arrange a summit conference.

But, upon analysis, all the Soviets were suggesting was that the foreign ministers act like a bunch of booking agents without authority to make preparations for a summit meeting that might accomplish something.

That was what the State Department fired back in an aide memoire of its own. What it meant in nondiplomatic language was: Whom are you kidding? What it actually said: Do you want a worthwhile summit meeting or a "spectacle"?

And Dulles at his news conference last week called the Soviet note a "fraud, or a hoax." This is in addition to some extra egg-throwing on the side.

For instance, the Soviet radio blamed the United States for the French bombing of a Tunisian town. The State Department jumped on this as "outrageous." It seems safe to say after all this that American-Soviet relations are no better and a summit meeting no nearer.

Several nationally prominent surgeons will address the congress. Among them are Dr. Charles Mayo of the Mayo Clinic, Dr. Alfred Blalock, chief surgeon of Johns Hopkins Hospital and Dr. I. S. Ravdin of Philadelphia. Dr. Ravdin performed the ileitis operation on President Eisenhower.

State Issues License To Three-Year-Old

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Onn Looper's new state driver's license, good until 1962, listed him as a 3-year-old.

Looper, a real estate man, absent-mindedly wrote his birth date as Oct. 19, 1937, instead of 1901, in applying for the license. It went through that way. The age limit for driving in California is 16.

It's an Easy Step from Dreaming to Driving!

Here he is at last—just a few miles out on his maiden journey—with his hands on the wheel and his head in the clouds. It's his!

And yet, truth to tell, he does have one regret. For he knows that he needn't have waited this long, had he but realized what an easy step it is from dreaming of a Cadillac to driving in a Cadillac.

Like a great many motorists, for instance, he was not aware that a Cadillac—in view of its obvious virtues—could be so modest in price.

Nor did he appreciate, until the facts were presented, how economical a Cadillac is to maintain or how wonderfully it holds its value over the years.

And little did he suspect how accommodating his dealer would be in welcoming him to membership in the great and distinguished family of Cadillac owners.

So, if you have your heart set on a Cadillac, you should hesitate no longer to investigate this happy set of circumstances.

In fact, why not visit your dealer today? He will be happy to help you select your favorite Cadillac model with your favorite Fleetwood interior—be it the luxurious Sixty-Two Coupe or the magnificent Eldorado Brougham.

Sabrina TV Appearance Slinky, Not Entertaining

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK (INS) — "Sabrina" (the British version of Jayne Mansfield, next to whom Jayne seems ready right now for "Lady MacBeth," was booked on the Steve Allen show solely on the basis of her major measurements)

She came on last night with a plunging costume partly covered with net which didn't mask her rippling rhythmic walk.

Louis Nye, who generally doesn't sink to such extremes, got his laughs or hoots several times by leering long and explicitly at Sabrina's cantilevered construction.

What ever happened to entertainment?

Helen Hayes in "Mrs. McThing" on "OmniBus" had a fine romp in Mary Chase's parable for adults, adapted for TV by Walter Kerr, which has a simple enough moral for all its complicated whimsical form of telling: if you cut yourself and your children off from the world because of some self-imposed fiction of superiority, some very dire and inferior consequences can crop up to bedevil you and your offspring.

Miss Hayes had a talented like in Eddie Hodges (the lisp of "Music Man") for the sly nifty double role of her son and the "stuck" a witch sent to replace him.

Sam Levene was properly cast as "Poison Eddie Schellenbach," and Irvin Corey, fine on TV when he's not ad libbing, was a raffish, depraved adult delinquent, "Dirty Joe McGinnis."

Alexandra Wager, a darling, gave everyone heart failure several times when her lines seemed to totter over her little memory but she held on tightly and endearingly to the finish.

Lee Meriwether played the beautiful witch, riding her broom gracefully and well, though briefly: Guy Raymond had a wonderful hollow-cheeked depravity and the whole piece generally enjoyed the same charm and shortcomings as it had on Broadway, where it settled down long enough to puzzle or delight its clientele in about equal portions.

Miss Chase is an authoress who seeks to inject more into a play than meets the eye and less into her violence than meets the casual glance.

While "Mrs. McThing" is no "Harvey," it does keep awhirl its stubborn pinwheel effect nobly simple frame of mind.

Veteran Japanese Star Uses Eyes, Gestures

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (INS) — "You can communicate as well with the eyes as with words," says Sessue Hayakawa, the veteran Japanese actor. "An expression, a gesture tell much."

Hayakawa is one of the two actors in an unusual television drama to be presented on "Kraft Theatre" (NBC-TV) Wednesday (9 p.m., EST). In "The Sea Is Boiling Hot" he will portray a Japanese soldier, the lone inhabitant of a South Pacific island where an American flier parachutes to safety in World War II.

The young American actor Earl Holliman plays the flier. Only he speaks English in the hour-long drama. Thus Hayakawa, at 68, faces one of the most challenging roles of his long career since his portrayal is confined to action, gesture and facial expression.

Hayakawa, you may recall, plays the Japanese prison camp commander in that excellent current motion picture, "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

But many forget that Hayakawa was one of the world's most popular movie stars from 1917 to 1927. His fame was international and his Hollywood salary ranged from $5,000 to $6,000 a week. From 1936 until 1949 he lived in France where he made 17 films and appeared in four plays.

Hayakawa looks as if he were in his middle 40s. His dark hair is untouched by gray, his face unlined.

"I stopped counting the years when I became 45," he said. "Aging is only a matter of the spirit. It exists only in the imagination, as do so many things. The creative mind that is absorbed by many things besides its own well-being does not age.

"It's in the mind, I say. It does not matter how long I sleep or what I eat. When a person gets a little sleep one night, he usually says to himself, 'I didn't get enough sleep last night, I must be tired.' And so he is tired.

"You make your own consciousness. You make the fears that get hold of you. Your imagination creates the emotions that wear the lines in your face."

As one might suspect, Hayakawa is deeply interested in philosophy, both western and Oriental. He lectures widely on philosophy in Japan when not engaged in acting.

Recently he completed a Japanese television series of "Les Miserables," which he translated from the French, and which he directed and played in. Soon he will begin Japanese film in which he plays Genghis Khan — which, when you think about it, seems an odd role for such a gentle philosopher.

1957 Report Cites PPGC's Newest Plant

Net Sales Of Firm Increase Four Percent For Another Record

The annual report of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company cites the firm's Works 7 near Cumberland for its initial production of glass.

Officials of the company reported net sales of $820,830,000 or an increase of four per cent over sales of $796,574,000 for the preceding year.

The report stated the modern glass plant at North Branch began shipping limited quantities of glass at the end of last year, even though the new unit was not fully completed according to original plans.

Net earnings in 1957 were $57,963,000, equal to $5.88 per share, compared with earnings of $55,382,000 or $5.62 per share in 1956, according to the annual report.

Last year marked the third in succession that the company established a new high in sales.

Company officials said the increase in net earnings was due to lower income tax provisions in 1957. This was caused principally to a settlement in 1957 of federal income tax matters for 1951-53 which indicated that a part of the provision made in prior years was no longer required.

Over $64,000,000 was expended in 1957 for expansion, replacement and modernization of manufacturing facilities, and an additional $59,000,000 for unexpended authorizations for plant and equipment.

Cash dividends in 1957 amounted to $27,192,000, as compared with $27,034,000 in 1956. The rate per share was $2.75 for each year.

Payrolls and employee benefits for the year amounted to $216,425,000, a rise of $12,053,000 over 1956, while the average number of employees increased from 34,983 to 35,304. In 1957, employee benefits averaged $941.

Accompanying the annual report to the company's 19,945 stockholders was a booklet commemorating the 75th anniversary of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and including a color photo of Works 7.

The glass firm began its operations in 1833 in Creighton, Pa., and now has 47 plants and 403

Tentative City Okay Set On Parking Plan

W. Md. Railway Officials Discuss Lot With Council

Tentative approval has been given by the Mayor and Council to Western Maryland Railway plans to establish a parking lot on its South Mechanic Street property for lease for commercial use.

Officials of the railway met with council and other city officials today. Final approval, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves, will hinge on a State Roads Commission report on plans for the area in connection with the Cumberland Thruway (cross-town bridge) project.

The discussion today also covered access for fire trucks in event of fire and traffic problems. These matters were approached by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan last week after the railway asked a quit-claim deed to Canal Street.

Merchants Behind Plan
Attending today's session were K. L. Muse, signal communications engineer of the Western Maryland; William E. Johnson, manager of the Industrial Promotion Department; and S. W. George, division engineer.

During the regular session today, Frank L. Martin, president, and Stuart N. Rosenbaum, secretary of the Retail Merchants Association, urged the city that in the best interests of the city and public, if any concessions must be made regarding Canal Street in order to get a 100-car parking facility in the heart of downtown Cumberland x x x "the administration is amply justified in making any such concessions in order to assure this parking facility."

The proposed plan of the Western Maryland should go a long way toward answering one of the crying needs of the city," they said.

Wants Statement
Finance Commissioner John J. Long, in commenting on the letter said there was no doubt about the feasibility of the Western Maryland plan nor the desire for a parking lot.

However, he said council should have a statement from the city attorney and city engineer on the closing of Canal Street on which a decision could be based. He said he had voted against the closing of the Williams Street crossing of the B&O Railroad and if that question were to come up again today, he would also vote against it.

Young McHenry's appointment was announced today by Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of the University of Maryland Extension Service.

He succeeds John H. Carter, who retired February 28 after serving the farm people of Garrett County for 28 years.

On Staff Since 1951

A native of York, Pa., he attended Cresaptown School and was graduated from Allegany High School in 1945.

He served two years in the Army in Korea and the Philippine Islands from 1945 to 1947. He enrolled in the University of Maryland upon receiving his honorable discharge from the Army and was graduated in January 1951. In February of that year he was assigned as Carter's assistant.

Attended Wisconsin U.
In 1953 McHenry attended the University of Wisconsin as part of his professional improvement program. His agricultural experience also includes ten years as a member of the Riverside 4-H Club at Rawlins.

Married to the former Helen Spurrier of Frederick, the county agent has a three-year-old son, James T., and a one-year-old daughter, Karen Lynn.

Wife Sworn As Edwards' Successor

Josephine Edwards Water Commissioner; Three Appointed

Mrs. Josephine Edwards, 225 Columbia Street, widow of William J. Edwards, was sworn in today to fill the unexpired term of her husband as Cumberland's commissioner of water and electric light.

The ceremony took place in the council chamber with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, administering the oath. Council adjourned sine die for the ceremony.

Mrs. Edwards will serve until the first Monday in July when the new Mayor and Council to be named in the June 17 general election will be installed.

Appointments Made
Today's session of council was mostly routine. Three appointive actions were taken.

The council concurred in appointment of Morris Baron to be local trial magistrate and approved an order naming him city magistrate replacing Donald W. Mason who resigned to become assistant state's attorney. Mason's resignation was effective midnight March 5 and Baron's appointment effective March 6.

The city contributes $30.75 a month toward the salary of the trial magistrate.

Robin Snow Melts Under Bright Sun

The Cumberland area had a "robin snow" last night but it melted today under a bright sun. Forecast for tonight are temperatures ranging from 29 to 34 degrees. Tomorrow there will be considerable cloudiness and cold weather. Rain or snow is likely tomorrow afternoon or night.

Only three-tenths of an inch of snow fell here but it did not last long. The snow coated lawns and trees but melted on streets as it fell.

Crews Out In Night
In Garrett County the snowfall amounted to half an inch at Oakland and a trace at Accident. Frostburg had one-fourth of an inch of snow. State Roads Commission crews were out last night salting highways in Garrett County. Chains were not needed today in Garrett areas. East of here highways were all clear and only a trace of snow fell in the Hagerstown area.

Temperatures hovered at 19 degrees in Garrett County during the early morning hours but started to rise later in the day. Frostburg had a low of 20 degrees and it was down to 24 degrees in Cumberland.

The elements pulled a switch in Maryland with seven inches of snow being dumped on southeastern part parts of the state and depositing only a light snowfall in Western Maryland.

Salisbury Gets Seven Inches
At Salisbury on the Eastern Shore the snowfall totaled seven inches. Roads were open but slippery.

The snow by-passed most areas north of Baltimore and Washington. About an inch fell in the two metropolitan areas. Frederick had one or two inches of snow. Last night's snow was caused by a low pressure system that passed to the south of this area and was moving seaward off the Atlantic Coast. Another low is expected to follow a similar path tomorrow.

MRS. EDWARDS TAKES OFFICE—Mrs. Josephine Edwards is shown, above, as she took the oath of office as Cumberland's commissioner of water and electric light. Mrs. Edwards was appointed to the post by the Mayor and Council to succeed her husband, William J. Edwards, who died Sunday, March 2.

Three Firms Offer Culvert Pipe Prices

Three firms submitted culvert pipe bids to the Mayor and Council today for use by the Street Department.

Bidding are Super Concrete Company and Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, both of this city; and Republic Steel Corporation, Canton, Ohio.

Bids were referred to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum for tabulation and report.

In a report on a request by the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association for a city contribution to its fund drive, Finance Commissioner Long said the fund is depleted and what the city has in the fund is pledged to the United Fund. He said he thought the Heart group a worthy cause but said the situation prevents financial help. He pointed out the city did not contribute last year.

Council ordered payments of $23.66 to Glen C. Hill for damages to a tire on Winifred Road; and $656 to George Construction Company for caulking material used by city forces at Ridgedale Reservoir.

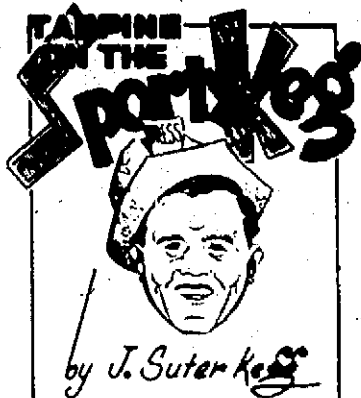

Checks were ordered issued to city employees Friday.

West Virginia Finishes First In INS Ratings

Maryland's ACC Court Kings Given Ninth Spot

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK (INS)—West Virginia's Mountaineers, who succeeded North Carolina as college basketball's regular-season champions, start tomorrow in quest of the NCAA tournament title the Tar Heels won in 1957.

The final International News Service weekly nationwide survey found West Virginia still in the top spot with Cincinnati vaulting into second place just ahead of (3) San Francisco, (4) Kansas State and (5) Temple.

The Mountaineers whipped Davidson, Richmond and William and Mary (74-58) in three days to take the Southern Conference tournament and move into a first-round game against Manhattan tomorrow in the NCAA Eastern Regional playoffs at New York.

History Against WVU

West Virginia should beat Manhattan easily, but history is against the Mountaineers, who never have gotten past the first round of the NCAA, losing in the last three years to LaSalle, Dartmouth and Canisius.

Other NCAA berths were won Saturday by Maryland, Indiana and Wyoming. The Pacific Coast Conference entry will be decided today when Oregon State plays California at Eugene, Ore., and the Southwest Conference championship will be the winner of the Arkansas-Southern Methodist game at Shreveport, La., tomorrow.

Maryland swept past Virginia Duke and North Carolina (86-74) in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament and meets Boston College in the same Madison Square Garden tripleheader with West Virginia. In the other game, Yankee Conference champion Connecticut plays Ivy League kingpin Dartmouth.

Indiana nipped Michigan State, 75-72, Saturday to win the Big Ten title and a March 14th NCAA meeting in Lexington, Ky., against either Notre Dame or Tennessee Tech.

Wyoing lost to Montana, 75-55, but backed into the Skyline championship when NIT-bound Utah downed Colorado State, 105-79.

The Utes, who beat Wyoming earlier in the week, joined Indiana as the only new teams in the INS top 20. The lineup:

1. West Virginia 26-1; 2. Cincinnati 24-2; 3. San Francisco 24-1; 4. Kansas State 20-3; 5. Temple 24-2; 6. Dayton 23-7; 7. Notre Dame 22-4; 8. Bradley 20-5; 9. Maryland 20-6; 10. Kansas 18-5; 11. Kentucky 18-6; 12. Duke 18-7; 13. North Carolina 19-7; 14. North Carolina State 18-6; 15. Michigan State 16-6; 16. Indiana 12-10; 17. Utah 20-6; 18. Oklahoma State 19-7; 19. Oregon State 20-5; 20. California 17-8.

West Virginia's three wins gave it 12 victories in a row since losing to Duke by four points for its only loss of the season.

Cincinnati won its 16th straight game, 80 to 68, over NIT-bound Xavier of Ohio, with All-American Oscar Robertson scoring 29 points. That cut the Cincinnati sophomore's average to 34.54, just a fraction ahead of Seattle's All-American Elgin Baylor (33.96), who concludes his regular season tonight against Bradley.

Owls Win 23 In Row

Seattle then goes to the NCAA and Bradley to the NIT. Bradley crushed Detroit, 88 to 71, Saturday, with Shellie McMillon pouring in 42 points to set a new one-game school record.

Temple won its 23d in a row by whipping St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania, 91 to 77. Guy Rogers, a third member of the INS All-American team, pumped in 24 points. The other members are Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Mississippi State's Bailey Howell. Chamberlain scored 23 to lead his Jayhawks to a 61-to-44 rout of Kansas State in the rubber match of their season competition.

Indiana, which had a record of 1-and-6 at one point during the season, won seven of its last eight games to take the Big Ten title from Michigan State. The two teams tied for the championship last season.

Oregon State lost a golden opportunity to clinch the PCC title Saturday when it was upset by Idaho, 62 to 55, after leading at the half, 27 to 19.

Other Saturday scores included St. Francis of Pennsylvania, 91; Duquesne 77; Syracuse 75; Connecticut 70; Oklahoma State 74; Wichita 50; Manhattan 69; Fordham 67; Brown 76; Rhode Island 67; Northwestern 88; Illinois 72; Michigan 95; Iowa 92; Brigham Young 77; New Mexico 55; Denver 74; Utah State 52; Stanford 74; Oregon 53; UCLA 69; Washington 68; Colorado 54; Nebraska 52.

Braves Move With Rush, Burdette Still Holds Out

By HOWARD SIGMUND

International News Service Sports Writer

World Series hero Lew Burdette still is holding out for more money, but Bob Rush is pitching so well for Milwaukee that the champion Braves aren't likely to raise the ante.

Burdette, who allowed only two runs in 27 innings while beating the Yankees three times in the series, rejected contract terms for a sixth time yesterday just before Milwaukee met Detroit in an exhibition game at Bradenton, Fla.

Rush, acquired in a trade with the Chicago Cubs, started for the Braves and made Milwaukee pitching look stronger than ever.

Herh Hits Homer

The big righthander gave up nothing damaging in blanking the tough Tigers over the first three innings. Then southpaw ace Warren Spahn took over and applied another three innings of whitewash.

The Braves broke the scoring ice with a run off Tom Morgan, a Tiger newcomer, in the fifth inning and Earl Herh hit a homer for Milwaukee in the sixth. The Braves added two more in the seventh, just enough for a 4-to-3 victory when the Tigers got to Humberto Robinson for all their runs.

The Yankees, meanwhile, continued their weak hitting and lost another to the St. Louis Cardinals, this time by a 2-to-1 score. Hobie Landrith's two-out single in the ninth off rookie Ryne Duren scored the winning Cardinal run at St. Petersburg.

But there was good news for the Yankees. Deron Johnson, tagged as "a second Mantle," crashed the 400-foot doubles in his bid for the regular left-fielder's job.

Cincinnati won a "doubleheader" from the Chicago White Sox at Tampa. After the Redleg "B" team beat the Chisox, 6 to 4, the Cincinnati "A" team downed the Lopezmen, 5 to 4. George Crowe's two-run homer was the big Cincinnati blow in the "A" game.

Tanner Grandslams

The Los Angeles Dodgers evened the score with Philadelphia at Miami when Felipe Montemayor's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Charley Neal with the run that gave the West Coasters a 5-to-4 win. Jackie Collum, hoping to stick with the Dodgers, got the win.

The San Francisco Giants beat the Cleveland Indians by a 5-to-1 score at Phoenix, Ariz., same margin by which they won at Tucson. Gene Woodling's ninth-inning homer ended Giant hopes for a shutout.

Daryl Spencer homered for the Giants as Al Worthington won and Mike Garcia lost.

Gaels Oppose 'Dutch' Quint Wednesday

The championship of the second-half race in the Catholic Youth Basketball League may have to go to the final game as St. Mary's yesterday whipped St. Patrick's, 62-49, on the SS. Peter and Paul court to move within a half-game of pacing SS. Peter and Paul's Flying Dutchmen.

The Gaels, seeking to add the second-half laurels to their first-half crown and make a clean sweep, will meet the Dutchmen Wednesday night on the Fayette Street court. A victory for coach Dick Blake's Gaels puts them on top and they must then play their postponed game against St. Joseph's of Midland, probably Thursday.

The Gaels have now won seven of eight starts, the victories all coming in a row, while the Flying Dutchmen of coach Bob Mattingly are 8-1 for the season. A win for SS. Peter and Paul Wednesday gives them the second-half honors and they would meet the Gaels in a playoff to determine the league championship.

Mike Long, the league's top scorer, racked up 28 points yesterday to pace the Gaels. He caged 13 goals and two free throws. Jerry Lowery had 18 for St. Patrick's.

St. Michael's of Frostburg whipped St. Mary's of Hagerstown on the latter's court yesterday in a non-league contest.

Harold McKenzie paced the winners with 14 goals and a pair of penalty pitches for 30 points while "Slug" Harvey was runner-up with 18. Flaherty hooped 19 for the losers.

Both Outgated

The Sentinels were outgated by the Hubs, 17 to 15, and Walkersville was down, 20 fielders to 18, to Hancock. The Black Knights, who are seeking their third straight state "B" title this weekend at College Park, had little trouble in routing Southern of Oakland, 67-37, showing a decisive 30-13 advantage from the field.

With two of the county's representatives making it to the state rounds, only Fort Hill has its opponent named. The Sentinels, who played both games over the weekend without benefit of a substitute, drew Annapolis (District 3) in the 7:30 semi-final Friday night. This is the first trip to the state tournament since 1949 for the Red Raiders. They last won titles in 1948 and 1949 but lost out in the District 1 tourney in 1951.

Valley will oppose the winner of tomorrow night's playoff between Gaithersburg (District 2) and Cambridge (5) at 6 p. m. Friday in the "B" semi-final.

The other "A" semi-final will have undefeated Montgomery Blair facing Wicomico of Salisbury (3) at 9 o'clock while Aberdeen (3) and Chestertown (4) meet in the "B" clash at 2:30.

O'Neal, Meeks Star

"Junior" O'Neal and Jerry Meeks emerged as heroes for the Sentinel "Iron-Men." O'Neal, with 17 of 19 free throws in packing the triumph over North Hagerstown, finished with a tourney tops in percentage with 21 of George Bayer, Dallas, Tex.; John 25 and an 840 mark. He was also Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Howie Johnson, Glenwood, Ill.

Among those in a 10-way tie at 71 were Freddie Haas Jr., New Orleans, and Lionel Hebert, of Lafayette, La.

Fort Hill, Annapolis To Open 'A' Tourney

Two District Titles Decided At Foul Line

By JIM DAY

Times Scholastic Sports Editor

One lesson that area high school cagers should have learned from the District 1 basketball tourney over the weekend at the Fort Hill gym was that accuracy at the foul line is still one of the most important phases of the round-ball sport.

Two of the three championships were decided from the 15-foot line. Fort Hill bagging Class A honors by hooping 25 of 37 against North Hagerstown to win 55-47, and Walkersville taking "C" laurels with 24 of 41 against Hancock in a 60-9 victory. Only the Black Knights from Valley were able to notch their "B" crown without needing free-throw proficiency.

West Virginia Tournament Sites Chosen

By The Associated Press
Sixteen sectional champions, including a host of newcomers who weren't around at this time last year, move into regional play Thursday and Friday to determine the four finalists in the State Class A High School Basketball Tournament at Morgantown, March 21-22.

Of the 16 contenders, only five are making their second successive appearance in regional play. Of the five, only defending state titlist Beckley and Charleston made it to last year's finals at Huntington.

The competition opens Thursday in Region 1 at Parkersburg, Region 2 at Elkins and Region 3 at Princeton. The Region 4 activity at Huntington starts Friday. Finals in all four regions are set for Saturday night.

The pairings:
Region 1 — Weirton (13-3) vs. Clarksburg Victory (15-8), Thursday; Parkersburg (20-4) vs. Triadelphia (14-8), Friday.
Region 2 — Gassaway (14-8) vs. Martinsburg (15-8), Thursday; Parsons (17-6) vs. Clay-Battelle (20-3), Friday.

Region 3 — Pairings scheduled today at Princeton. Entries include Princeton (23-0), Beckley (16-6), Welch (11-9) and Monongahery (20-2).

Region 4 — Logan (16-7) vs. Charleston (14-9), and Huntington (20-4) vs. Stonewall Jackson (21-2), Friday.

Upset-minded Sherrard and seven other hopefuls engage in single game area playoffs Friday to determine the four finalists for the State Class B High School Tournament also at Morgantown, March 21-22.

In their latest outing Saturday, the Rams charged past strong Sistersville, 51-45, for the Region 1 championship. The victory enabled the Rams to stretch their record to 8-16 and to earn the well-worn sobriquet of "Cinderella team."

On the other side of the picture, three area contenders will be placing perfect records on the line. Fleming, paced by Paul Popovich, has a 25-game winning streak. Aurora and Ansted both own 22-0 marks.

Arrangements were under way to hold the Area 1 playoff between Sherrard and Fleming at Fairmont and the Area 2 playoff between Aurora and Hedgesville (14-1) at Keyser.

The Area 3 and 4 playoffs will be combined in a doubleheader at Fayetteville. The Area 3 teams are Green Bank (17-2) and Ansted. Area 4 will pit Baileyville (21-3) vs. Huntington Douglass (22-3).

Williams Must Wear Helmet, Says Weiss

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—New York Yankees General Manager George Weiss says Ted Williams will have to conform to the American League's protective headgear rule against the wishes of the Boston slugger.

Weiss made his remarks upon learning Williams does not intend to wear either a crash helmet or a cap with fiber inserts despite the new rule for batters in the AL. "It is a league rule, not a club rule, and it will be up to the umpires to enforce it," Weiss said.

Petrus, Beacham Win Golf Match

The first challenge golf match of the season was played yesterday on the Cumberland Country Club course with George Petrus and James Beacham defeating Orville "Stony" Jackson and John Wilson. Beacham chipped in for a birdie on the last hole to win the match.

The local course is reported in good condition and approximately 70 members played Saturday and 40 turned out yesterday.

Honolulu Champion Wins Over Russian

MOSCOW (INS)—Honolulu's Tommy Kono, world middleweight weightlifting champion, won the 165-pound class competition in the International Weightlifting Tournament at Moscow. Frostburg Students To Take Part In College Program

FROSTBURG — For the fourth consecutive year, Little Theatre will represent Frostburg State Teachers College in the annual "College Variety Night" program sponsored by the Pegasus Club of Fairchild Aircraft in Hagerstown this Friday.

The Pegasus Club's membership consists of officials of the corporation. To correlate industry and education, the group annually sponsors a program featuring talented students from the universities and colleges within the Hagerstown area.

Little Theatre's entry this year will be sequences from Gordon Jenkin's "Manhattan Tower," a musical narrative which is a biographical in that the composer tells of his return to New York and of a month's sojourn in the city with which he had fallen hopelessly in love.

The three sequences to be depicted are: Jenkin's first glimpse of his tower, in reality; the day love walked into his tower, and the inevitable sadness resulting from bidding farewell to the tower in Manhattan, his dreams and his love.

Alice Zerbach is cast as the narrator; Edward Lester will play the piano; Joan Sweeney and William Preston will portray in pantomime action the scenes described in the narrative. Miss Dorothy Stone White is the director and Ralph Mahoney of Little Theatre is stage manager.

James Duffy, Jo Earle Epperson and Dale Cawagawere of the class in technical theatre are designing and constructing the "Manhattan Tower" stage setting.

Following a luncheon at the plant, the students will be taken on a tour of the industry. Rehearsal will be held at 2:45 p. m., and dinner will be served at 5:30 p. m.

The production will be presented at 7:30 p. m.

Farm Groups Losing Out On SS Funds

"A number of Social Security claims based on farm earnings have been turned down because the claimants did not keep records and were not able to prove that they had the income reported," according to S. Leigh Wolfe, manager of the Cumberland Social Security office.

"It is a well known saying that 'ignorance of the law is no excuse,'" Wolfe said, "and that applies to keeping records and filing Social Security tax returns on time. Social Security benefits cannot be based on guess work, and estimates of income won't do. While there is an optional reporting system which permits farmers to pay Social Security taxes on two-thirds of their gross income instead of the actual net profit, the taxpayer who has not kept a current record of expenses would not be able to tell at the end of the year which method was better for him."

Wolfe expressed concern that some younger farmers may not be keeping up with their tax reports. Failure to do that will make it difficult, if not impossible, for the widow and children to collect benefits, he said, in the event of the farmer's death, and benefits might not be payable at 65 because he has not been under Social Security long enough.

Wolfe pointed out that although farmers have been qualifying for old-age benefits with only two years of Social Security credit, those who become 65 after March of this year will require from three to 10 years, depending on their age. A farmer who becomes 65 in April, 1959 will require four years under Social Security and one who becomes 65 in April, 1960 will require five years, while those who become 65 after 1970 will require the full 10 years. However, certain survivors benefits are payable if a farmer dies after having had a year and a half of credit in the three years just before his death. These requirements apply to wage earners, too.

Wolfe said that farmers who would like a free farm record book may get information on this from their county farm agent.

Higher Sales Tax Certain, Leaders Say

Democrats Expect To Muster Enough Votes For Passage

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS — Democratic leaders predicted confidently they will finally muster enough votes tonight to adopt an increased sales tax in the Maryland Legislature.

Holdouts, who have forced the Legislature to last four days longer than scheduled, feared privately the leaders were right in their feeling.

The handwriting appeared on the wall in the difference between the first and fifth votes in the House of Delegates to raise the sales tax from 2 to 3 cents. The original tally showed only 37 for and 78 against. At midnight Friday on the latest effort the count changed to 55 in favor and 62 still against. That left six not voting.

The forces trying to push through the increase claimed they had held out a few votes which will be made available when necessary. They have been working on other legislators during the week-end time out.

There were increasing demands from Democratic legislators for Millard Tawes, their candidate for governor, to step into the act.

Their thinking is that a strong push from Tawes will swing the tide and get the Legislature out of the deadlocked position which they admit is making them look bad.

Tawes is from the Eastern Shore, one of the strongest blocks opposing the sales tax. There was a crack in that wall Friday led by Chairman Hanna (D-Wicomico) when nine of the Shoremen voted for the higher tax.

Approval of the sales tax rise is expected to be followed automatically by an accompanying rise in the income tax from 2 to 3 per cent to bring in the 33 million dollars for balancing the budget.

Resistance to the sales tax was due to the fear that it is distasteful to many voters who will register their reprisals on election day.

Many of those delegates voting against the sales tax bill have admitted off the floor they personally consider it one of the most equitable taxes. But they fear it politically.

This has created an interesting political scene on the House floor. The sales and income tax program came from Republican Gov. McKeldin. Democrats have led the fight to adopt it. Some of their colleagues have roundly assailed them for so doing.

A majority of the Republican delegates have sat quietly on the sidelines voting against their governor's program.

Observers are reminded of the recent history of Maryland elections. Democrats have torn each other apart in primaries while the peaceful Republicans went on to victory.

Democratic House leaders have tried to convince their majority members to take the governor's program so he will be blamed for the increased taxes.

However, Baltimore political leader Jack Pollack has been hard at work on the sidelines against the sales tax. A majority of the Democratic City delegates have gone along.

Del. Moore (D-Harford) also argued against the late plea to adopt the "administration plan." He claimed "we shouldn't have waited 30 days to accept it, otherwise we should have come up with something else."

The House Ways and Means Committee has considered a host of alternative tax plans that included a graduated income tax, corporation income taxes and on whisky or beer.

None has come close to acceptance.

Besides the taxes, the House and Senate have to square away on one more item in the list of capital improvements. Still at issue is $1,286,000 for a geriatrics building at the Eastern Shore Hospital in Cambridge.

A conference committee has recommended the allocation. The House had voted to eliminate it and the Senate to keep it.

Opposition Lacking In Beall's Race.

No Candidates Running Against GOP Incumbent

By The Associated Press

Midnight tonight is the deadline for candidates to file for Maryland's May 20 primary election, and four candidates for statewide office have no opposition within their parties.

One of them, Democratic Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, has no opposition so far on either side of the political fence. Sen. Beall (R-MD) is not expected to have opposition in the Republican primary.

The other two formally filed for office during the weekend — Rep. Devereux (R-MD) for nomination for governor, and Frederick Mayor John A. Derr, for the GOP nomination for comptroller.

Can Nominate If the GOP should fail to come up with a candidate for Attorney General today, the Republican State Central Committee will have until May 5 to nominate someone.

The primary vacancies could bring increased activity today at the Secretary of State's Office in Annapolis.

Devereux, who has served four terms in Congress, is known as the Marine hero of Wake Island. Derr, 47, has been mayor of Frederick since 1954.

Weekend political activity also included a $10-a-plate Jackson Day dinner staged in Baltimore by Young Democrats.

Four Democrats Run It brought out four men all seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate in May. They were George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor; James Bruce, former ambassador to Argentina; Clarence D. Long, Johns Hopkins University professor, and Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

Mahoney, Bruce and Long claimed support, asked support and criticized Mayor D'Alesandro. D'Alesandro's only campaign statement was his observation, "there is no substitute for experience."

Mahoney sent a message to Garrett County Democrats Saturday asking that the county back him as it has done in "three successive primaries."

Mahoney's office announced last night that he had been endorsed—at a meeting last week—by Local 616 of the Laborers' union in Cumberland.

The term is for two years. He has served one year since coming here from Ohio.

Election of officers was the main order of business at the conference's biennial convention here yesterday, attended by 400 delegates from Maryland, Delaware and portions of Virginia and West Virginia.

Snow Keeps Boy Scouts In Va. Camp

WASHINGTON, — Fifty Boy Scouts from nearby Kensington, Md., returned home tonight after being marooned for a brief period at a camp near Virginia's Skyline Drive.

The youngsters and about 20 fathers were caught by a sudden snowfall that dumped more than a foot of snow in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

They had been on an overnight father-son campout of Kensington's Troop 234 when the snow started falling about noon. It fell so fast and furious that most of the 22 cars which had brought the campers to the mountains were snowbound.

Calls for help were rushed out and three forest rangers responded to aid in freeing all but four of the cars. The owners of the four stuck vehicles remained behind at Luray, Va., in anticipation of getting the cars tomorrow.

Pittsburgh Transit Firm Reports Loss

PITTSBURGH — The city's largest transit firm, Pittsburgh Railways Co., reports it operated at a $417,594 loss in 1957.

The deficit, blamed in part on a 56-day strike last fall, was partially offset by an income tax credit, according to C. D. Palmer, president of the firm.

Palmer said the tax return cut the deficit to $166,716. The firm had a net income of $591,353 in 1956.

Man And Wife Die Together

MANASSAS, Va. — A Prince William County man died in an Arlington hospital early yesterday of a self-inflicted bullet wound just six hours after police said he shot and killed his wife in a home at Yorkshire near here.

Police said Mosley McFall, 38, entered the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Swindell early Saturday night, quarreled briefly with his wife, Mrs. Helen McFall, 29, then shot her twice with a .33 caliber pistol.

After the shooting, police said, McFall walked outside the house and shot himself. He died shortly after midnight.

One of the McFall's six children, 3-year-old Aida Lee McFall, was at the Swindell home at the time of the shooting.
